

Nuclear Treaty Taken Up in U.S. Senate

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy polished up an appeal to the Senate for resounding approval of the new East-West limited test ban pact today while representatives of at least 30 nations signed the treaty in Washington, London and Moscow.

The presidential message asking ratification and placing the pact officially before the Senate was due at the Capitol in late afternoon.

The President took some time out from his shuttle run between his ailing new-born son in Boston and his wife at Otis Air Force Base where the baby was born Wednesday.

Before Kennedy got going again on the flying schedule, Australian Ambassador Sir Howard Beale started a parade of diplomats through the State Department to sign the pact banning nuclear weapons test everywhere except underground.

Senate approval by the necessary two-thirds vote is expected in about a month, but not before some reservations to the ban on atmospheric, outer space and underwater blasts are registered.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., for one, is calling for scientific testimony on Soviet progress toward neutralizing hostile missiles before he makes up his mind on the agreement.

The United States has asked other nations to support the pact, agreed to by it, Britain and the Soviet Union. With Australian Ambassador Howard Beale leading the procession, representatives of 26 nations will call at the State Department at 15 minute intervals to sign.

In Moscow and London, the treaty will be signed by other nations and—in some cases—by the same nations signing in Washington. The State Department estimated 56 nations in all will join the nuclear big three. Notable holdouts are France and Communist China.

Hepatitis Is Blamed on Food

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Contamination of food at a Bible school apparently caused three cases of infectious hepatitis in Benton County, the state Health Department reported Wednesday.

Dr. William L. Bunch Jr., director of the Division of Communicable Disease Control, said cases also were reported in Phillips, Hempstead, Monroe and Sebastian counties during the week ended Aug. 3.

Bunch said 197 cases, including 128 in children, had been reported since Jan. 1.

Two Injured in Plane Crash

HOLLY GROVE, Ark. (AP)—Two men were injured Wednesday night when their light plane crashed at a landing strip near Holly Grove in Monroe County.

State Police identified the pair as Warren Bass of Little Rock, the pilot, and Hal Green of East Lake, near Holly Grove. Both were reported in satisfactory condition in a Stuttgart hospital.

Price High for Eclipse Peek

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An east Arkansas teen-ager may have to pay the price for speaking a peek at the recent eclipse of the sun.

The price is loss of all but peripheral vision due to scotoma; an eye injury caused by extremely bright light burning the retina in a process similar to an image being burned into photographic film. The eye loses its ability to focus on objects directly in front of it.

Dr. Dale Alford, a Little Rock ophthalmologist, said the patient had not arrived in Little Rock for examination but that it was "all most certain that the scotoma is the result of viewing the eclipse."

The name of the patient was not made public.

3 Paroled From Hempstead

The Arkansas Paroles Board approved release to 74 at a meeting yesterday in Little Rock. The group paroled included:

R. C. Jones, Hempstead, convicted for manslaughter April 1, 1963 and sentenced to one year; William Thomas McGill, assault with intent to kill, given three years on July 16, 1962;

Alfred Euel Hartline, assault with intent to kill, Nov. 27, 1961, sentenced to five years.

President's Son in Serious Condition

BOSTON (AP)—Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, one-day old son of the President, was listed in serious condition today, but doctors said the way he spent his first night gave some encouragement.

The President visited his new son this morning at the Boston Children's Medical Center and moments later, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger issued this statement:

"The baby's condition remained about the same through the night. It was a source of some encouragement to doctors who felt the baby's condition would get worse."

"The baby's condition would have to be described as still serious, a cause of some concern but doctors are still hopeful," Salinger said.

The White House put wraps on release of medical information directly at Boston Children's Hospital where the 4-pound, 10-ounce baby is fighting breathing difficulties.

Salinger said the White House staff would release all information on the baby's condition and refused to discuss details of the case.

He said the diagnosis remained the same as it was Wednesday—the general term idiopathic respiratory distress syndrome—or difficulty in breathing from unknown cause.

Although Salinger said the con-

Trial Dates for 56 at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Trial dates were set Wednesday for 56 Negroes and a white woman arrested last week in racial demonstrations at Pine Bluff, and another 14 Negroes and a white man were arrested Wednesday night.

Those arrested Wednesday night at a drive-in restaurant included William Hansen, a white man who is field secretary for the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee. All were charged with refusing to leave a place of business at the request of the manager and were jailed on $500 bonds.

Earlier in the evening, a Pine Bluff hotel reported that a Negro couple attempted to register, but was turned away. The hotel said a white man called to make reservations about 30 minutes before the couple arrived, not revealing that the two were Negroes.

Robert Whitfield, chairman of the Pine Bluff Movement, said he had not knowledge of the incident.

Nine uniformed policemen were on hand for the stand-in at McDonald's Hamburgers, where most of the 72 demonstrators have been arrested, and there were no incidents. Only a small crowd of white persons gathered and many continued to go inside the drive-in to be served.

Hansen and six Negroes were arrested first, then eight other Negroes began a second stand-in before the patrol wagon carrying the first demonstrators was out of sight.

Judge Wilton Steed set Friday as the trial date for 24 Negroes arrested during a stand-in last Thursday at Pine Bluff's public library. All pleaded innocent to charges of refusing to leave public property and creating a disturbance in a public place.

Trial was set for Aug. 15 for 32 Negroes and a white woman, Carlene Gayle Oehler, 25, of St. Louis, all of whom were arrested at the drive-in. Some of the 33 persons pleaded innocent Wednesday, but others will not plead until Aug. 14 because they are free on bonds not returnable until then.

George Howard Jr., attorney for the 24 arrested during the library demonstration, said he would file motions today raising the question of the constitutionality of the two Arkansas laws under which the Negroes were charged. He said they had been applied only against Negroes demonstrating against segregation and therefore would not be legal under the U.S. Constitution.

Howard, president of the state chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would contend that it was unconstitutional for police to maintain segregation by arresting demonstrators; that McDonald's had been licensed by the state and the City of Pine Bluff to do business and should serve everyone, regardless of race, and that the arrest of anti-segregationists at McDonald's was a restriction of interstate commerce.

Masked Bandits Pull a $2.8 Million Train Robbery in England; Rated Biggest Haul

CHEDDINGTON, England (AP)—A band of 20 to 30 masked bandits decloaked the Glasgow-London mail train to a halt with a false signal today, blackjacked the engineer and escaped with loot that the post office said may exceed a million pounds ($2.8 million).

Executed in 15 minutes, this was the biggest and boldest train robbery in British history. Of comparable robberies in the United States, the biggest cash haul was $1,561,277 taken last Aug. 14 from a mail truck outside Plymouth, Mass.

"The loss is likely to be very heavy and may well run into seven figures," the British Post Office said. "This is the first attack on a traveling post office in the 125 years of their history."

Postmaster General Reginald Bevins promptly ordered a 10,000-pound ($28,000) reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bandits.

The bandits seized about 120 bags of registered mail containing a large quantity of used but still valid currency which was being returned to London for reprocessing. There were reports the haul also included a consignment of diamonds for Hatton Market, London's gem trading center.

The bandits struck shortly after 3 a.m. at a rural crossing 40 miles northwest of London. They covered the green signal at the crossing with a glove and put batteries behind the red signal to light it. They also cut railway telephone wires.

Garbed in coveralls and various types of masks, the band boarded the train with clubs and iron bars as weapons when engineer Jack Mills, 50, halted his diesel engine. Mills was clubbed down.

Some smashed windows of the first two mail coaches and climbed aboard. They bound the four mail sorters. They handcuffed the assistant engineer, David Whitby, to Mills, uncoupled the two coaches from the remaining 10 cars of the train and forced the engineer to move the engine and two cars a mile farther south.

Whitby said later he was told by one of the bandits:

"If you shout, I will kill you."

The band unloaded the mail bags on a bridge over a narrow country road and dropped them to cars waiting on the road, 15 feet below. Then they sped away.

"It was obviously a very professional job," said detective Supt. Malcolm Fewtrell of Buckinghamshire. "They seemed to know their railway signaling."

The mail train carried no passengers. About 50 postal workers were aboard.

13.9 Million Bales of Cotton Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's government-restricted cotton crop at 13,984,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight. This is 6 per cent below last year.

The 1962 crop totaled 14,867,000 bales while the 1957-61 average was 13,125,000 bales.

This year's crop is being grown under the minimum national planting allotment permitted by farm law designed to prevent over-production. The planted acreage has been estimated at 14,856,000 acres, down 9 per cent from last year's 16,293,000.

The government reduced acreage allotments and marketing quotas this year because of a big drop in cotton sales at home and abroad and a resulting increase in surplus stocks.

This year's acreage for harvest was forecast at 14,254,000 acres, compared with 15,569,000 last year and 14,293,000 for the five-year average.

The department estimated that Arkansas would harvest 1,225,000 acres at 49 pounds per acre and produce a total of 1.4 million bales of cotton.

Last year Arkansas produced 1,450,000 bales and the yield was 512 pounds per acre on 1,355,000 acres.

4 Arraigned in Death of Infants

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Four persons were arraigned Wednesday in Pope Circuit Court at Russellville on charges growing out of the death of one of two infant girls found in a shallow grave near Ozark several weeks ago.

Jerry Kitty Scheuer of Santa Ana, Calif., mother of the infant, pleaded innocent to a charge of concealing the death of an illegitimate child. She posted $1,500 bond and returned to California.

John Thomas Potts, 27, who has admitted fathering both children, and his father, Rhodes Potts, 68, pleaded innocent to charges of helping conceal a felony. Both were held on $1,000 bond.

William Potts, 15, brother of John Potts, was turned over to juvenile court on the same charge. No disposition was made of his case immediately and he remained in the Pope County Jail with the men.

John Potts said one baby died of natural causes and the other of accidental suffocation while the group was camped at a roadside park near Russellville while en route to Kentucky. He said the group turned back and the bodies were buried near Ozark.

State Police said the causes of death could not be determined because the bodies were decomposed.

Exiles Say Invaders Advancing

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — President Francois Duvalier's government claims the invasion of Haiti by Haitian exiles has been crushed, but exile sources in the Dominican Republic insist the invaders are advancing.

Information Minister George J. Figaro said in a communique that Duvalier's troops had crushed the invasion after several hours of fighting in north Haiti Monday. He claimed the rebels, led by Gen. Leon Cantave, a former chief of staff, had been driven into the neighboring Dominican Republic.

The communique said "a state of good order prevails" throughout Haiti.

Adrien Raymond, Foreign office undersecretary, told newsmen some rebels were killed or captured, but he acknowledged that Cantave was not among them.

The government placed the size of the invading force at about 100, or one-fifth of what the rebels claimed.

Private sources in Port au Prince claimed Cantave was still on Haitian soil pressing his drive to topple Duvalier.

A rebel spokesman in the Dominican Republic accused Duvalier's regime of issuing false victory claims to try and discourage Haitians from joining the invaders.

Exile sources in the Dominican Republic of Santo Domingo insisted two rebel columns had thrust down past Cap Haitien, Haiti's second city, and a third was moving across the northwest peninsula in an apparent squeeze on Gonaives, the country's third largest city.

Rebel informants claimed the invasion force started at 500 strong but was swelled as it advanced by defections from Duvalier's forces.

Haitian Ambassador Fern D. Baguidy told a special committee of the Organization of American States in Washington Wednesday that "danger still exists because of the enmity of Dominican President Juan Bosch" toward Duvalier.

IS CHANGING WORLD
CAUSE OF DELINQUENCY?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I am the mother of seven children, none of whom ever raised a dissenting voice about school until this past year when my 17-year-old son suddenly decided he wanted to learn a trade instead of continue in high school. His teacher thought the desire to shift might stem from the fact that, being so big, he felt out of place among his smaller classmates.

Anyway, he went to the technical school and the change in his character appals me. He uses rough language, lies and is downright lazy. To make the situation even more serious, he spent the money I gave him for tuition.

My husband and I are sick at heart over this. We've given him all we can—even cigarette money. Perhaps we have done too much for him; or could it be his age? He boasts of being popular with the girls; that I doubt. What can we do before he gets into real trouble? —Apprehensive

Dear Apprehensive: I assume that your son switched from high school to trade school, not merely because of his size (there is wide variation in size among boys of this age) but also because you and he and the school felt that his chances of achievement would be improved.

Instead of greater achievement, he has picked up some bad habits. You refer to "the change in his character." It's more likely a change in personality. By 17 one's basic character and sense of morality are pretty well established.

Or should be. Let's consider one by one your specific complaints and what you can do about them. Your son has begun to use rough language. This undoubtedly is due to the fact that he is associating with quite a different group of boys from those he knew in his former school. Teens are conformists in every way—dress, speech, behavior. Your son feels compelled to speak the language of his current friends in order to be accepted as one of them. Right now rough talk is their badge of manhood. But I do not think you should tolerate it at home or in your presence. Make sure that you and your husband, and other members of the family set a good example.

The lying and dishonesty are more serious. You and your husband must find out their underlying cause. Insist on knowing what your son is doing and where he is after school, and on weekends. You doubt his popularity with girls! He must be operating with a great deal of freedom indeed for you not to know more about his social life than that. Tighten the reins! You can do so with complete justification on the grounds of past performance. At 17 some boys are ready for quite a bit of freedom. Others are not. Your son's misappropriation of funds—regardless of the amount—should be dealt with firmly and realistically. What exactly did he spend the tuition money for?

Would it be possible for him to get some sort of a part-time job? If so, stop the hand-outs, and insist that he pay for his own luxuries. And he certainly should be required to pay back the tuition money.

In trying to read between the lines of your letter, I have a strong feeling that you and your husband are in the dark about your son's companions. Suggest that he invite them to your home, suspicious about the group he has fallen in with. Remember that a boy of 17 in spite of his size and superficially grown-up manner, is still very much of a child badly in need of consistent, parental control. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Teenager Code." Use it as a design for your boy to live by.

Dear Helen: The other day me and my brother had a spat. Our mother says I started it. He hit me twice and I asked him to stop. When he wouldn't I fought back. That's how it started.

My elder sisters get all the breaks. Because I'm only 15 my parents think me too young to date. Pop said the other night, "If you don't quit seeing that boy friend of yours, I'll knock off his head and yours." Since school is out it's so lonesome. I need a boy friend. How can I convince Pop and Mom that this is natural? Want friends? —Hopeless

Dear Hopeless: Squabbles between brother and sister are perfectly normal but by 15 they should be few and far between, especially if you're trying to convince your parents that you're ready to date. Of course it's natural to have friends. Don't you have any girl friends? If you rather feels as strongly as he does, hide your time till he seems for himself that the majority of girls your age are dating occasionally in groups.

Dear Helen: Please advise me concerning a birthday gift for my Saturday night beau. Though dating only six months, we do like each other. Would it be proper for me to give him a birthday gift? If so, what sort of a gift and how expensive? Money is no problem but I wouldn't want to overdo it as it would be the first occasion for a gift. I am 22 and he 28. He does not smoke or play golf. —M

Dear M: A book, an amusing gadget or a tie are almost always welcome, suitable, and safe.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bridge - Luncheon

Honor Miss Smith
A bridge-luncheon honoring Miss Sue Ann Smith was given in the home of Mrs. Albert Graves on Tuesday, August 6 with Mrs. Al Graves, Jr. and Mrs. Hunter Long of Summit, N.J., as hostesses.

Mrs. Charles Bryan Ruggles

The honoree wore a blue frock and had a pink glabella corsage. Pink roses and daisies were used as decoration throughout the home, including the table where a delicious luncheon was served. In the afternoon bridge was played at three tables, with prizes going to Miss Sharon Foster, Miss Sherrie Hankins, and the honoree. An unusual gift was presented to the guest of honor, but she and her future husband will treasure the pair of Colt .22 derringers she received.

Miscellaneous Shower

For Mrs. Huckabee

Mrs. Kenneth Huckabee, nee Gloria Cato, a recent bride, was feted with a miscellaneous shower on Monday evening, August 5 in the home of Mrs. Claude Collins and Jane with Miss Irma Lee Smith and Mrs. Wilbur Dearing as co-hostesses.

A clever kitchen corsage was presented to the guest of honor. Pretty summer flowers were seen throughout the home. About 25 guests were present, and the many lovely and useful gifts were displayed. Tasty refreshments were served.

Duplicate Bridge Club

The Hope Duplicate Bridge Club had three tables of players at its meeting Monday night, August 5 at the Hope Country Club. E. P. Young, Jr. and Dr. Harold Breits were the highest scoring couple.

Miss Elizabeth Bridgwell and R. L. Broach tied with Mrs. D. W. Hensley of Benton and Mrs. E. P. Young, Jr. for second place. Mrs. Marie Hendrix and Mrs. Harry Hawthorne tied with Miss Mary K. Lehman and Mrs. R. L. Broach for third.

Bridge Club Meets

A local bridge club met on Tuesday night, August 6 in the home of Mrs. Jud Martindale. The two tables of club members enjoyed the evening in a setting enhanced by late summer flowers. Mrs. Wayne Russell was high

On the evening of Saturday, August 3 Miss Carol Lucille Northam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Norris Northam of Artesia, New Mexico, became the bride of Lt. Charles Bryan Ruggles of Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, N.M. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bryan Ruggles of Hope.

Robert A. Waller, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. A chorus sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "I'll Walk Beside You," "Faithful and True," and the "Wedding March." For the nuptial blessing they sang "Father, Hear the Prayer We Offer." The couple spoke their vows at the Eighth and Grand Street Church of Christ in Artesia in a beautiful setting of picardi gladiolus and white pompon mums. Tapers in branched candelabra were entwined with ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin and Chantilly lace applied with seed pearls. Lace appliques embellished the skirt which swept into a chapel-length train. The long, lace sleeves ended in lily points over her hands. An oval pill box of satin held her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of trailing Stephanotis centered with a white, yellow-throated orchid.

Miss Linda Jeff Pharis of Lake Jackson, Texas, was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Juanita Hegler of Albuquerque and Miss Ronell Speck of Roswell. They were identically attired in short frocks of orange sherbet crystalized satin with fitted bodices, rounded necklines with softly pleated skirts. Each carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations with tropicane roses.

Lighting the candles were Miss Iris Northam and Miss Brenda Northam, sister of the bride. Their dresses were identical to those of the other attendants.

William Bryan Ruggles served his son as best man, and the ushers were Michael McCormick of Baker, Oregon, Thurman Northam, Jr. and Roy Northam, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Northam chose a beige lace dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Ruggles, mother of the bridegroom, wore a shell pink linen dress with matching accessories. Pinned at her shoulder was a corsage of red roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Church of Christ at Thirteenth and Termosa Drive. The tiered wedding cake and silver punch bowl were placed at opposite ends of the lace covered refreshment table. Miss Nancy Ward, Mrs. Royce Hendrix, and Miss Diane Cox served. The bride's book was kept by Miss Fay Waller, and bags of rice were given to each guest.

For travel the bride wore a green chemise two-piece suit with white accessories. She pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

After a wedding trip to Ruidosa, N.M., the Grand Canyon, and other points in Arizona, the couple will be at home at 603 South Pennsylvania Avenue, Roswell, N.M., where Lt. Ruggles is stationed at Walker Air Force Base and scorer, Mrs. V. R. Hermon, Jr. was second high, and Mrs. Floyd Leverett won the game prize. A dessert and coffee were served for refreshments.

Paraplegic Minister Uses Plane

By BOB HARING

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The Rev. Russell Heriford can't walk—but he can fly.

The Rev. Mr. Heriford, 38, is a paraplegic—paralyzed from the waist down by World War II wounds. But that does not stop him from serving as a minister in the Nazarene Church—or from piloting an airplane.

Heriford was a tank man when U.S. armored forces crossed the Rhine River into Germany. His tank had started across an open field when machine guns began firing. Suddenly Heriford found himself on the ground.

"There was no pain — no remembrance of the bullet rolling me off the tank," he recalls. "I tried to get up, but nothing moved except my head and left arm."

The bullet had entered his right shoulder, pierced his right lung—and damaged his spinal cord.

"I was determined not to be a captive of the wheelchair," Heriford says.

He learned to drive a car, then won a license to fly a simple type airplane. In 1958, he was licensed to fly a more complicated type of plane, adapted with a hand control for the rudders, which normally are operated by the feet.

Heriford met his wife, Kittie, while he was in a Veterans Hospital in Memphis, Tenn. They have two adopted sons, Tommy, 7, and Jimmy, 9.

The Herifords moved to Tulsa in 1948, then in 1951 went to New Mexico, where he worked for the Air Force.

But in 1953 Heriford decided "the Lord was calling me to preach." He entered Pasadena College in California and was graduated in 1957. They recently returned to Oklahoma, but, after a few months in Tulsa moved to nearby Inola because it gave Heriford a handier place to land his plane. He and his family fly to

Booneville Man Dies in Accident

WALDRON, Ark. (AP) — A

Booneville man was killed and two companions were critically injured today in the collision of their car and an asphalt truck on Highway 71 at the north city limits of Waldron.

The victim was Delmar Godfrey, 20. Hospitalized at Waldron were Bill Fisk, 30, and Don C. Cooper, 31.

Slate Trooper Clarence Gibson said the collision broke open the truck's tank and Fisk was burned by hot asphalt. Cooper suffered internal injuries.

Neither the truck driver, Gerrell Martindale, nor his passenger, W. D. Miller, were seriously hurt. Both work for the Wheeling Pipe Line Corp., of El Dorado. Gibson and Sheriff Clyde Hawkins said a pickup truck had stopped on the highway to left the asphalt truck cross a bridge and that the Booneville car, driven by Fisk, swerved around the pickup and hit the larger truck, which was carrying 6,000 gallons of hot asphalt.

Hawkins said the men were on their way to a job on a Waldron construction project.

Miss Record by Only 4 Minutes

LITTLE ROCK — William Tedford missed by four minutes in their weekend attempt to regain the speedboat record for the Mississippi River run from New Orleans to St. Louis.

The record is 31 hours, 10 minutes, set in 1957. The Tedfords held the record for the run in 1956.

Finds Public Likes the TV Movies

By CYNTHIA LOWR
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The National Broadcasting Co. recently was almost apologetic about dedicating four or more precious evening television hours a week to motion picture reruns. Now it has assumed a more positive stance.

It is actually boasting about the painstaking way it selects the features, edits them and slips in the inevitable commercials and station breaks.

The network is frank to explain why it elects to run movies on Saturday and Sunday nights. The public likes them.

Last season, when two of its Monday night series died from lack of public interest, NBC slipped in a two-hour feature as a stop-gap. It proved so popular that "Monday Night at the Movies" will be continued through the new season.

NBC, however, does not just pick any old movie.

The network purchased two expensive packages of features from two top studios, about 79 pictures. Donald Bays, program manager, and his assistants saw all of them, sometimes more than once, and chose the best 30.

Much of the criticism about old movies on television concerns careless cutting. Bays says that the average movie with commercials is almost perfect for a two-hour-period. Sometimes, however they run as long as 140 minutes, which means surgery if the film is to be used on Monday nights.

The Saturday night movies often run past 11 p.m. to avoid the necessity of editing.

"When I watch the films, I'm always looking for natural breaks, the ends of acts or scenes," Bays continued. "There are logical spots for commercials. And, if the film runs long, I'm watching for scenes to cut out without injuring the whole."

Next season, about 75 of the shows will be in color, with star names. And some of the films are only two or three years old.

$8,500 Awarded in McCool Case

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — A Jefferson Circuit Court jury has awarded the Bank of Star City $8,500 of the $22,500 it had sought in a lawsuit growing out of the affairs of slain former convict J. Thurman McCool.

The judgment, entered after a one-day trial Tuesday, was against Noah S. Peek Jr., of England, a business associate of McCool. It involved a check which Peek gave to McCool. Peek said the check had been raised from $500.

Harley Cox, Peek's attorney, said Peek was considering an appeal.

McCool was arrested in 1956 for forging $85,000 in state warrants. He was sentenced to five years in prison but was paroled in 1958. He returned to Pine Bluff, where he became a partner in the Business Machines Co., and the Jefferson Printing Co.

His bullet-riddled body was found frozen in the front seat of his car in a cemetery near Sheridan Jan. 1

Dodgers Hike Lead; Mets Club Cards

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer

About this time a year ago Jack Sanford had won seven straight games in a streak that eventually stretched to 16 and an outstanding 24-7 record with the San Francisco Giants.

In that long victory run, the husky right-hander completed only five games, getting relief help and plenty of batting support to enable him to earn credit for the other 11 victories. This was mighty nice and was reflected in a fat $37,000 salary for 1963, befitting the star pitcher of a National League championship team.

Somehow, all of the little pieces that fitted so neatly together last year are all out of whack this year. For instance take Wednesday night in Houston. The 34-year-old ace hurled a masterful three-hitter against the Colts but lost 1-0.

Sanford's mates got nine hits but couldn't dent the plate against Dick Farrell and relief star Hal Woodeshick. It looked like they might in the ninth when Orlando Cepeda and Matty Alou singled off Farrell to put men on first and third with one out. But Woody stepped in then for his 40th appearance of the year and got pinch hitter Harvey Kuenn to hit into a double play.

So now Sanford has a 10-12 record against a mark of 14-6 at the same time in 1962, which is a big difference and as good a reason as any why the Los Angeles Dodgers have a six-game lead over the Giants as well as the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Dodgers upped their advantage by a full game over all of the first division clubs by nipping the Cubs in Chicago 3-1 on Tommy Davis' homer in the 11th inning. The New York Mets clubbed the Cards 7-3, the Philadelphia Phillies edged Cincinnati 2-1, and Pittsburgh topped Milwaukee 5-4.

In the American League the front-running New York Yankees clubbed Washington 9-1, Chicago thumped Kansas City 7-3, Cleveland downed Baltimore 4-1, Detroit edged Boston 5-4, and Minnesota belted Los Angeles 9-4.

Davis' leadoff homer in the 11th inning against reliever Lindy McDaniel proved the winner at Chicago although the Dodgers got another to make sure. This gave the victory to Ron Perranoski who took over for Sandy Koufax after the fireballer had yielded a tying run in the 10th inning.

Sandy got himself another mention in the record book, however, by fanning 11. This gave him 210 whiffs for the season and enabled him to tie Christy Mathewson's National League record of three consecutive 200-strikeout seasons. Jim Hickman became the first New York Met ever to hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and homer—in pacing the aroused cellar-dwellers to a 7-3 triumph over the contending Cards. Veteran Duke Snider lashed three singles in the Mets' 11-hit attack against four Cardinals pitchers, starting with Jose E. Broglio, 12-8. Tracy Stallard held the Cards to six hits for his fifth victory against 10 defeats.

Japanese Crazy About Baseball

By DON SAWATO

TOKYO (AP)—There's a story about a young Japanese who went to the United States and was taken to a baseball park.

"Why," he exclaimed, "they've copied the game from the Japanese."

His observation was an accurate indication of how baseball has become a part of Japanese life in the 90 years since it was introduced to this country — by Americans. And today American ball players are playing important roles in the sport in this baseball-happy land.

This season there are 25, including five Japanese-Americans. They generally draw salaries several times above what they would get in the States.

The Americans who play ball here come to a country that is wildly enthusiastic about the game, to put it mildly.

Kids and grownups swarm vacant lots on the four islands of Japan practically the year round with makeshift diamonds, gloves and bats.

On the professional level, the two six-team leagues — Central and Pacific—rake in more money than any other entertainment. A crowd of 40,000 packing a stadium on a normal weekday is no rarity.

Last year, the two leagues drew a total of 9,600,286. Millions more followed the game via television and radio.

Jacksonville Downs Travs by 5-2 Score

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Jacksonville Suns rose up and smote Arkansas for only the third time this season, 5-2, in an International League baseball game Wednesday night.

In other games, Atlanta edged Richmond 4-3, Syracuse squeezed by Indianapolis 3-2, Columbus eked out a 6-5 victory over Rochester and Toronto beat Buffalo 7-4.

Sam McDowell threw a four-hitter at Arkansas and fanned 10 Travelers.

Arkansas put three of its hits together—a single, double and triple—in the fourth inning for two runs, and got only one hit in the other innings.

Walt Bond provided the winning impetus with a two-run homer in the sixth for the Suns.

All-Stars Get in Some Good Work

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The East football All-Stars took advantage of a heavy cloud cover over Little Rock Wednesday morning to get in their last contact work until Saturday night.

West grid coaches said their charges showed a slight slump during Wednesday morning's scrimmage and fullback Tom Corbin of Fort Smith injured a knee bending down in the hall after the workout. Corbin was hopeful he could play Saturday, however.

Joe Dillard, head coach of the West basketball team, said he was very pleased with his team, but reported that two of his players had been slowed by injuries. Jerry Wilmon of Mulberry sprained an ankle and Steve Middlebrooks of Stephens had a Charley horse. Keith Dunlap of Camden Fairview and Fred Rice of Fayetteville, among others, have had blister trouble.

The East basketball team looked its sharpest yet in a 30-minute afternoon session. Head coach Dan Coston will name his starting unit Friday, but John Dickson of Jonesboro, Gary Washington of Paragould and Tommy Rowland of Little Rock Hall appear to be sure starters. Dickson is 6-9 and the other two, both excellent rebounders and shooters, are 6-3.

Woody Cummins of Marked Tree is a likely starter for the East gridders, but the coaches are not sure what position he will be playing. He was running on the white, or No. 1 unit Wednesday, but he also has been working out at tackle. In high school he was a middle linebacker on defense and led Marked Tree to a 9-1 record last year at quarter-back.

East Coach Buddy Harding and his assistants watched films of Tuesday's scrimmages Wednesday, but haven't had time to analyze them. Harding continues to shift players from the white to the blue and red (No. 2 and No. 3) units in order to give all a chance. Several players are obvious choices for starting positions, but Harding said he didn't plan to announce his lineup until later today.

Yankees Win; Killebrew Seizes Lead

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Quick-firing Harmon Killebrew ruled murderers' row today after a power struggle at Los Angeles in which he ousted kingpin Bob Allison issued a warning to the guy who shoved him from the No. 1 spot.

Hammerin' Harmon, who along with Allison and Earl Battey, forms Minnesota's power triumvirate, took over the American League home run lead Wednesday night with a three-run eighth inning shot that catapulted the Twins to a 9-4 victory over the Angels.

Killebrew's 26th homer gave him one more than Allison and put him five up on Battey. Killebrew, who tied for the home run championship with 42 in 1959 and captured the crown with 48 last year is trying to become only the ninth player in AL history to hold or share the title three or more times.

Allison was forced to the sidelines for two or three days with a fracture of the ring finger on his right hand. He was struck by a pitch from Los Angeles' Dean Chance in Tuesday night's game.

The Twins' triumph pulled them into third place, 9½ games behind the New York Yankees who got homers from Joe Mauer and Elston Howard in a 9-1 walloping of Washington. The second-place Chicago White Sox remained eight games back with a 7-3 decision over Kansas City.

Al Kaline's home run lifted Detroit to a 5-4 victory over slumping Boston and Cleveland dropped Baltimore into fourth place by downing the Orioles 4-1.

The Los Angeles Dodgers boosted their National League lead to six games by beating the Chicago Cubs 3-1 in 11 innings. Houston knocked off San Francisco 1-0, the New York Mets upended St. Louis 7-3, Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 2-1 and Pittsburgh defeated Milwaukee 5-4.

The Angels led 4-2 going into the eighth when Rich Rollins and Vic Power singled and Killebrew tagged Ken McBride, 12-8. Relief specialist Bill Dailey, who preserved Camilo Pascual's 13th triumph against six losses, hit a three-run homer in the ninth for the Twins to pad the final margin. Leon Wagner hit No. 22 for the Angels.

Pepitone started the Yankees' rout against Steve Riddick with his 20th homer, a three-run shot, in the first inning and before it was over the AL leaders had collected 14 hits. Howard hit a career high with his 22nd homer while Bobby Richardson chipped in with a three-run double. Al Downing, 8-3, checked the Senators on three singles, but Minnie Minoso stole home in the third to spoil his shut-out bid.

Rookie Pete Ward triggered the White Sox victory over the A's, driving in three runs with a homer and two singles, and Dave Nicholson crashed a key two-run double with the bases loaded in a four-run sixth inning rally that wrapped it up. Juan Pizarro, with relief help from Jim Brosnan, matched his previous season high with his 14th victory.

learning a new offense, the Iowa winged T. One of the running stars of Wednesday's workout was Hugh Hammonds, a 5-7, 160-pound halfback from Gravette in northwest Arkansas' eight-man league.

The coaches say Hammonds has had some problems due to the adjustment to 11-man football, but that he knows what to do in an open field. Hammonds says one big difference is learning the holes to hit because there are more of them in 11-man ball.

Dillard has been going with a lineup of Elliott McVey of Yellville and Don Little of Hot Springs at guards, Paul Hill of Harrison on the post, Ronnie Jackson of Fort Smith at one forward, and George Jones of Nashville or Charles Sanders of Lake Hamilton at the other.

Busy Bandits Get Befuddled

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A busy bag boy blocked a brace of bold bandits—they got befuddled.

Chief Special Agent John Walker of a grocery firm gave this account:

Two women entered a food store in South Louisville Wednesday night and demanded money. One had a pistol.

The bag boy was unaware of the holdup attempt. He was on his way to a parking area to get shopping baskets. The woman with the gun told her companion, "We'd better get him in here."

They went outside after the youth. A store official locked the doors behind them. Flustered, the women fled.

Negroes Hate of Whites Affirmed

EDITORS NOTE — What is it like to be an American Negro? Here is the way U.S. Negroes view the small and the large irritations which have culminated in a year of racial crisis. Ninth in a special Associated Press series on the integration issue.

By JUNIUS GRIFFIN

"We are not something from 'Porgy and Bess'... we want to share equally with our white brothers—yes, brothers."

These are the words of Herbert Fielding, businessman and a leader of the Negro community of Charleston, S.C.

An official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Fielding prides himself on being a moderate. But he sums up the temptation to violence, the anger that many American Negroes feel in this summer of crisis.

"The Negro is mad," he says, "not angry, but mad and filled with a hate he has nourished for almost a lifetime."

The feeling is echoed in the North as a Negro youth suddenly snatches a white woman's handbag and flings it into the street.

"I did it because I hate white people," he explains.

You hear the word "hate" again and again as Negroes, packed into the ghettos of Harlem and Washington, try to articulate their feelings. In Savannah and Charleston you hear it once more.

In Columbia, S.C., a Negro talks of his "intense dislike" of the white man.

In Charlotte, N.C., a Negro says simply: "We dislike the white man, but he's doing better."

North and South animosity is a palpable thing. In the South because the Negro feels the weight of "Jim Crow" laws, written and unwritten; in the North because he faces discrimination when he wants to get a job or live in certain neighborhoods.

Hosea Williams, 37, head of the Chatham County Voters League in Savannah, said: "We Negroes weren't born hating the white man. We have cultivated this hatred and nourished it for years hoping that one day he would make us ashamed of ourselves. But he hasn't. He has given us pride... pride to protest and if necessary to tell him to go to hell if he doesn't allow us full and equal opportunities."

Williams said that he once worked for the NAACP, "but, I became too hot for them, or rather too radical. I don't believe in tomorrow. I want equal rights for my people now. If necessary, I intend to die in Georgia fighting for what I believe is right and to leave my children an honorable legacy."

In Charleston, NAACP official Fielding delights in talking about the historical beauty of the city and its traditions.

"The white man's great failing here is that he doesn't know that his Negro neighbors are just as proud, stubborn, and sensitive about this great city as they are," he said.

Of the deepening racial crisis, Fielding said: "We are at the bottom, the end of the rope. The only way the Negro can go is up. And if we must fight to get there, both races will wear the battle scars for generations to come."

The Rev. I. DeQuincy Newman, NAACP state field secretary, foresees a long and bitter fight for Negroes in Charleston and other parts of South Carolina.

"If the white man had any sincere desire about ending this problem, he would take down the barriers of segregation and allow responsible Negro leaders to concentrate on preparing the poor and impoverished Negro for the role he is to play in our new society," Newman said.

"We no longer ask the Negro masses not to hate," Newman added. "We tell him that if he must hate he should try to show a little mercy. This is a harsh but realistic view."

In Columbia, Dr. Howard E. Wright, president of Allen University, an all-Negro school, said "The task of helping our students to face the realities of our times is just as important as sending them out into the world with an academic education."

"The racial tension here is such that any incident in a downtown restaurant or store can cause our students to drop their books and take to the streets. It's too bad that I can't join them. I can't tell them that everything will work itself out. This would be a lie."

Charlotte, N.C., has eased racial barriers in hotels, restaurants, schools and recreational facilities, but still is plagued with racial problems in hospitals and in job opportunities.

Dr. Reginald A. Hawkins, a Charlotte dentist and ordained Presbyterian minister, says: "I served in World War II and I have no intention of stopping my people's fight for equal rights. We want those rights now, not gradually... but now."

Dr. Emory L. Rann, a Charlotte physician and leading Negro moderate, has spoken against racial demonstrations.

"Our demonstrations have simply outgrown their usefulness," Rann said. "It is now time we started negotiating with the city council. I don't see what good we can now derive from an ugly incident which could occur during a demonstration."

Rann stands almost alone in Charlotte's Negro community. There also is a split between what Negroes call "ceremonial leaders" and others who are close to the pulse of America's Negro masses.

Ceremonial leaders are described by the Negroes as those who stay away from the underprivileged within their own race and who have lost contact with the Negro people.

Eclipse Damages Eyes of Youth

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Doctors say an east Arkansas teen-ager apparently suffered eye burns from watching the recent eclipse of the sun.

Dr. Dale Alford, Little Rock ophthalmologist, said the patient has not arrived in Little Rock for examination but "It's almost certain that the scotoma (retinal injury) is the result of viewing the eclipse."

The name of the patient was not released.

A spokesman for the Arkansas Society for the Prevention of Blindness said that it is about two weeks too soon for eclipse-burn cases to be showing up.

An eclipse burn is painless and often the victim is not aware for some time that his retina has been irreparably damaged.

Betancourt Is Favored in Venezuela

By PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Sen. Rauli Leoni, companion of President Romulo Betancourt for three decades, is the leading contender to win the fall elections and succeed Betancourt next February.

The 58-year-old labor lawyer won unanimous nomination at the recent convention of the big work-peasant party, Democratic Action (AD), which he helped Betancourt found in 1941.

Leoni told an interviewer he would carry on Betancourt's brand of nationalism, anti-communism and pro-United States policies, but indicated he would withdraw the ban on the Communist party, imposed by Betancourt, if the Communists renounce violence.

"We do not persecute the Communists because of their political ideology but because they have turned to subversion and terrorism," Leoni said.

Leoni, son of an immigrant Frenchman, led a 1928 Caracas student demonstration against Venezuela's dictator, Juan Vicente Gomez. Betancourt, three years younger, was one of Leoni's lieutenants. Betancourt and Leoni have shared power, defeat, exile and dictators' jails ever since. Leoni was minister of labor when Betancourt was a provisional president in 1945-1948.

Party associates say Betancourt wanted the AD convention to name three or more possible presidential nominees, including Leoni. He apparently thought AD leaders could then negotiate for a united front candidate backed by the Social Christians of the government coalition.

Rafael Caldera, 47-year-old Social Christian leader, rebuffed by Leoni's AD nomination, may decide to run for president. Caldera ran third in 1958 behind Betancourt and the former junta leader, Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal.

Four other men seek the presidency. Voting is scheduled tentatively for November.

Jovito Villalba, 55, of the Republican Democratic Union (URD), one of Betancourt's most active critics for years, is considered the strongest anti-government candidate. Villalba blames Betancourt's anti-Communist policy for provoking terrorism.

Faubus, Group to California

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus, other state officials, civic leaders, legislators and newsmen were to leave today for a look at the missile control center at Norton Air Force Base, near San Bernardino, Calif.

An Air Force plane was to take the delegation to California for the two-day inspection of the control center.

Duck Rules Likely to Be Liberalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said Wednesday it appears certain there will be some liberalization for the 1963-64 season of the restrictive duck hunting regulations adopted last year.

This word came as Daniel H. Janzen, director of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, and his staff worked on final draft of proposed regulations to be presented to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. They hoped to have them ready by Monday.

Janzen had before him recommendations received at a two-day meeting of the Waterfowl Advisory Committee.

His staff recommended some liberalization, it was learned, and spokesmen for the four flyway councils urged relaxation of the tight rules put in last year because of reductions in duck production due to drought in breeding areas.

The Audubon Society proposed that there be no change in the regulations so as to permit a build-up in breeding stock.

The department forecast Tuesday that the numbers of ducks this fall will show a moderate increase over last year's flights in the Pacific, Central and Mississippi flyways, with a small increase in the Atlantic Flyway.

More Confidence in Missile Bases

NORTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said Wednesday he has more confidence in the military establishment after a briefing on the ballistic missile system.

The governor and 27 other Arkansans are in California for a tour of the missile control center at Norton Air Force Base.

Li. Col. C. A. Snoden told the group that the Titan II missile complex in Arkansas would be cause of reductions in duck production due to drought in breeding areas.

The Facts of Life Around Arkansas

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH Associated Press Staff Writer

A lengthy courtroom fight at Texarkana left Municipal Judge Ted Goldman "thoroughly confused" and the star witness stretched out on the floor asleep.

Truitt V. Aaron was charged in a warrant sworn out by Clyde E. Favre with stealing the witness, a little brown dog, part Pekinese and part Toy Manchester or Chihuahua.

Mr. and Mrs. Favre and their two children claimed they had owned "Bobo" for two years, since he was six months old. They said Bobo disappeared one Saturday and was found at the Aaron home, four blocks away, the following Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron and their three children maintained they had owned "Tony" for five years, since he was six months old. They said Tony had disappeared about 10 months earlier and had returned home just a few days before the Favres came to claim him.

Neighbors of the Favres said the dog in the courtroom definitely was Bobo. Neighbors of the Aarons said the little dog, without a doubt, was Tony.

Goldman said he was convinced witnesses on both sides believed they were telling the full truth.

Somewhere in Texarkana, the judge said, there must be another little dog who looks exactly like Bobo or Tony. "That dog," he said, "is either Bobo or Tony."

He found Aaron not guilty and left the dog in his care until a civil suit could be filed in another court, adding that had Favre been charged, he also would have acquitted him.

Mrs. Cecil Waller of Magnolia left her yard-work to answer the phone and was asked to hold for a call from Washington. She heard two or three men talking, then heard one say, "Mr. President, Mrs. Waller is on the line."

Thinking that it was a joke, she thought of some flip things to say. But then President Kennedy picked up the phone and congratulated her for being elected Arkansas president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

"Thank you," she managed to gasp, just as the conversation ended.

J. S. Leach, 67, of Pine Bluff a train dispatcher for the Cotton Belt railroad, was reminiscing about his funniest experience.

"It was," he said, "when a freight handler's assistant stepped on a box of talking dolls while helping unload a casket."

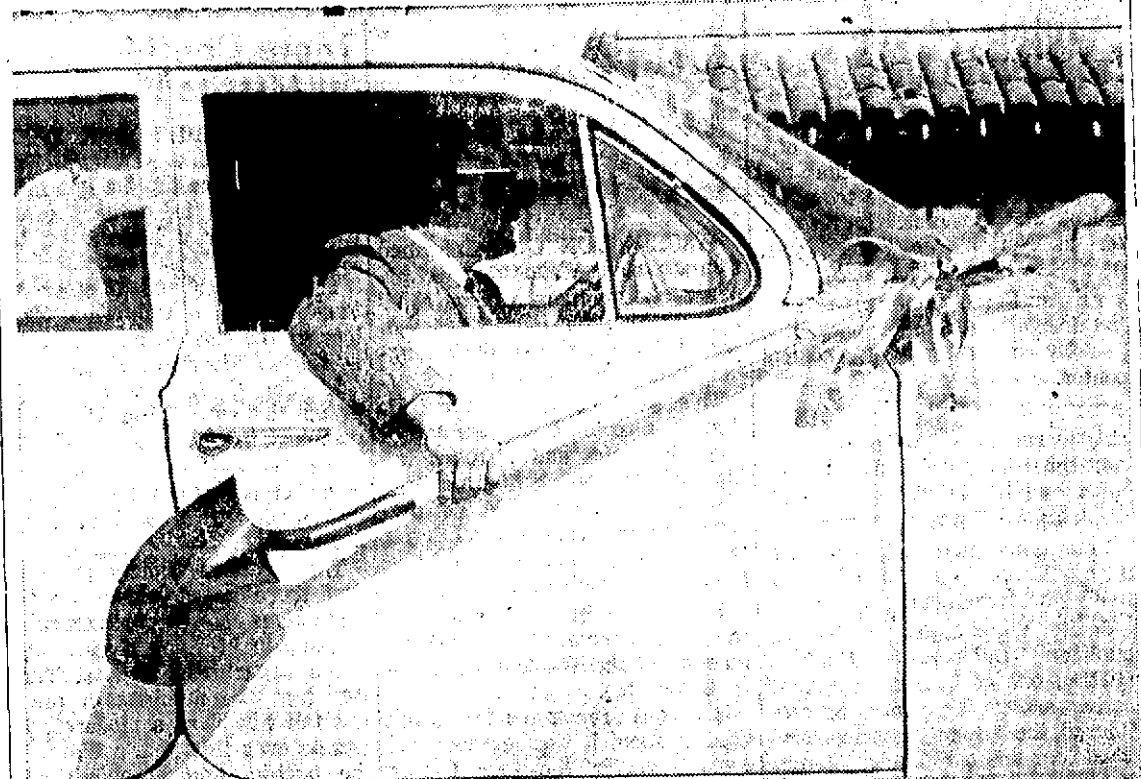

Sophia (Susie) Skokowski, 6, of Forrest City, wants to enter the first grade this year, so she's learning to talk — English.

The little Polish girl was adopted by Dr. and Mrs. Joe Skokowski after Skokowski met her on a pilgrimage to his native Poland earlier this year. Skokowski said she was a distant relative of his family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Dalton didn't want the pumpkin vine which came up voluntarily at their home at Conway. Dalton even plowed it up once.

But 12 pumpkins have matured on the vine and the Daltons have built a rack for the vine to climb and placed concrete blocks under the pumpkins to keep them from pulling themselves off.

"When it came back, we decided to help it," Dalton said.

Perry Mason Gets a New Spot on TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The body lay on the office floor. The door burst open and in rushed Perry Mason. He took one look, knelt quickly and tested the fallen man's wrist as a voice in the next room said, "Call a doctor."

"No need for a doctor," said Perry.

"Print it," called the director, using the motion picture phrase indicating that no re-takes would be necessary.

"That's the merry murderous way things go as 'Perry Mason' starts its seventh—and probably last—season on CBS.

After years during which cast and behind-the-scenes personnel have remained pretty much intact, the operation runs like the proverbial watch. More often than not, regulars Raymond Burr, William Talman, Barbara Hale and William Hopper go through rehearsals and then the scene is filmed, just once.

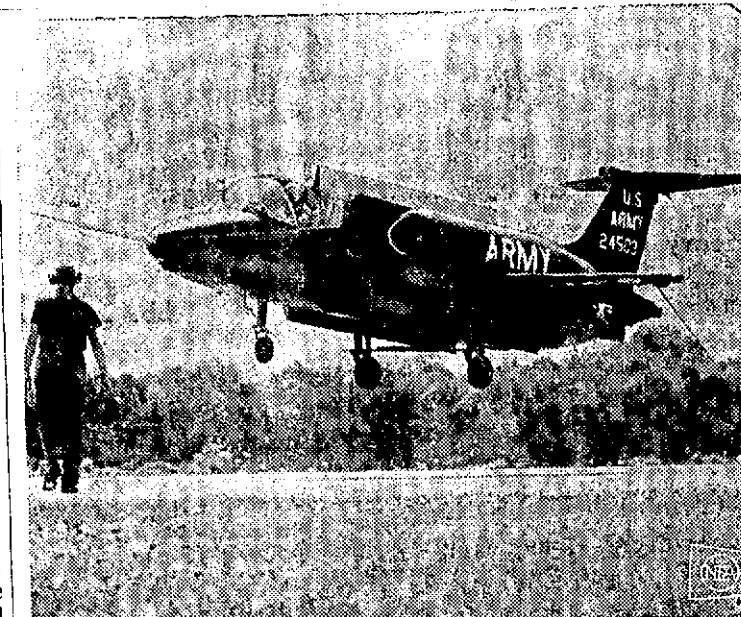

Producer Gail Patrick Jackson, once a film star herself, is sorry that prospects for another season are dim. But she is more concerned that CBS has pushed the show back an hour on Thursday to 9 p.m.

Last season the show did quite well starting at 8 p.m., which gave it a half-hour's jump on NBC's popular "Dr. Kildare." A lot of viewers, including this one, soon learned that it was pretty easy to watch the whole legal show on CBS and then switch over for the last half of "Kildare."

The medical plot lines could be picked up and the climax was easily understood.

Come fall, however, Mason starts half way through Kildare. And if six years experience watching Mason is a qualification, I would say that it would be almost impossible to start watching at its half way point. Its plots are tightly knit, usually very complicated and involve a number of characters. Sometimes the viewer can lose the thread of an episode by merely leaving his set for a drink of water.

Waiting in the wings is another Erle Stanley Gardner project, based on his books about Donald Lam and Bertha Cool, private eyes.

HUMMINGBIRD—The SV-4A Hummingbird, an experimental VTOL (vertical take-off and landing) aircraft, lifts straight up into the air in an untethered hover test at Marietta, Ga. Built for the Army by Lockheed-Georgia Co., the jet will begin transition tests from hovering flight to forward flight later this summer. The Hummingbird is designed to attain forward speeds of up to 500 m.p.h., yet land and take-off like a helicopter through a system of deflecting its jet thrust.

Best Buys at Nation's Markets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Meat bargains are broadening at supermarkets, with pork cuts and lamb attracting special attention this weekend.

Pork marketing has picked up sharply from its seasonal low and prices have accordingly taken a drop.

Midwestern markets report a wide range of bargains, including chops and spare ribs. In the Northeast, smoked hams are a star. On the West Coast, pork loins are off as much as 5 cents a pound in some California markets.

Most regions offer lamb cuts at attractive prices, with Midwestern tags on leg roasts and shoulder and rib chops now at spring-time lows.

In the New York area, one national chain is featuring leg of lamb at 40 cents a pound. Beef prices are also competitive, with marketing running about 10 per cent higher than a year ago. Best buys run in the roast categories, but many shops also are pushing steaks.

Broiler marketings have passed their peak but broilers still are an economical main course. Canned tuna fish, fresh scallops and peanut butter are other protein features.

Vegetable counters continue to sparkle with entreeing variety. Best buys nationally include green beans, potatoes, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, squash, cabbage, beets, topped carrots, sweet corn, lettuce, onions and peppers.

Cantaloupes are priced the lowest they've been in years in some markets and there's a wide selection of other fruits. Plums, grapes, peaches, watermelons, blueberries, limes and pears are among the stars.

Links Crime to Uneducated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dan Stephens, superintendent of the state penitentiary, said Tuesday that there was a correlation between a tendency toward crime and a man's educational opportunities or his desire for education.

Stephens told a Little Rock civic club the average school level for white inmates at Cummins prison farm was seven years and for Negroes five years.

Of the nine men in the death cell awaiting execution, he said, none finished high school.

Urban Project Turned Down

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Fort Smith's proposed $2.6 million Urban Renewal project was turned down for the second time in an election Tuesday, this time by a vote of 6,991 to 3,964.

Attorney Sam Sexton, a spokesman for pro-Urban Renewal forces, said his group would concede defeat in the face of the overwhelming voter disapproval of the project.

The Urban Renewal proponents circulated petitions for Tuesday's election after the proposal was defeated by 68 votes in an election last April.

Are Jazzed Gospel Songs Blasphemous?

NEW YORK (AP)—Are jazzed-up gospel songs blasphemous?

The question was asked Tuesday night in front of the Sweet Chariot, a supper club in the Times Square theater district.

A Negro religious group gathered before the club on West 46th Street and sang Negro spirituals for 2 1/2 hours to protest the club's "prostituting of religious songs and symbols of the church."

The club's entertainers and waitresses—the latter called "angels"—and wearing skimpy costumes with wings—came outside to engage in a song duel.

"Oh, when the saints go marchin' in," sang the 22 employees, in the same fashion as the jazzed-up gospel songs which the club features.

The church group responded: "Swing low, sweet chariot, comin' for to carry me home. . . ."

Theatergoers, with nothing to do during intermission, flocked over. They quickly took sides, singing with the group they championed.

One "angel" carried a sign reading, "Have Gospel Song, Will Travel."

Another held a sign saying, "We practice integration — Your picketing is discrimination in reverse."

Unopposed Can Be Certified

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office told Democratic Party leaders in Conway County today that their 1963 Democratic County Convention delegates could certify unopposed candidates for Morrilton city offices to the county central committee.

The appointments should be made after the time for holding a municipal election has expired, the opinion said, and no election is necessary since the candidates are unopposed.

In another opinion, D. E. Anderson, city recorder at Ozark, was told that the act raising the monthly pension payment for retired voluntary firemen became effective upon its passage by the legislature March 20.

It increased the minimum monthly payment from $5 to $30 and applied to volunteer firemen drawing pensions before March 20 and those who retired after that date.

Harlem, who led the religious group, said the club was "blaspheming religious hymns." His supporters carried signs saying "Religious songs should not be used in a place of this nature."

A club spokesman said many of the so-called gospel hymns were written by Tin Pan Alley composers and are legitimate nightclub fare.

Economists Right, Thinks Businessmen

Today's Business Mirror
By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—It's more than just the hot weather that's making many businessmen take it slow and easy these days. They hope—and most believe—that the economists are right in saying that business is set to turn better this fall. But as of today there are so many things that could change quickly that the top-heavy majority of optimistic forecasters could be reversing their guesses—as they've been known to do many times in the past.

Odds are that today's hesitancy will be temporary and that cool weather will bring an upturn. But where decisions can be postponed many businessmen are doing so just now. Optimism is well seasoned with caution.

A trade war pitting American chickens in one corner against European wines, flower bulbs, trucks and buses, motion picture film, electric shavers, among other things, in the opposite corner, may have small impact on the general trend of the national economy. But it would be meaningful to American importing firms and farm producers involved. And the war could spread, although by cool weather time tempers on both sides may have fallen.

How far the nuclear test ban may fan out into other cold war fields is a question. And so is the possible effect on individual producers and manufacturers of materials and goods involved.

How much longer the postwar construction boom will last is another uncertainty, although most experts are stressing that Americans' needs are still far from met.

The new car models have yet to make their debut and consumer reaction to them must remain an unknown quantity till later. The best guess is that the auto industry has a better than average chance of another good sales year. But that's still to be proved.

Except for the railroads, the labor situation is comparatively quiet at the moment. But the basic conflict is far from resolved. That is management's desire for more cost-cutting automation, labor's demand for job security, and government's concern over unemployment totals that change little and threaten to grow.

Possible tax changes also affect much business planning at the moment. What Congress does about it could activate some programs, scuttle others. And the same is true for consumers' spending intentions.

The stock market has been trying for the traditional summer rally. But here, too, the many uncertainties keep many traders cautious and the public hesitant. A lot of this can be laid to the weather, and to vacations that keep key men away from their decision-making tasks.

The Vogue of the Cocktail Parties Is Regular Medical Checkup, Have Rare Disease

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Getting an annual medical checkup is a leading status symbol today—particularly if it turns up a rare ailment no one else has.

I wondered why old acquaintances were cutting me dead in the street, and strangers fled from me at cocktail parties.

Finally, an old friend took me aside and said:

"I hate to be the one to have to tell you this, but it's your own fault people have begun to avoid you. You've let our set down dreadfully by failing to get your annual medical checkup."

"This leaves no common ground for discussion."

I protested that after my last checkup five years ago the doctor told me I was "medically uninteresting."

"I'd die rather than let word of that get around in our crowd," I said.

"Oh, surely there's something wrong with you by now," replied

my friend cheerily. "Get another checkup."

So I did.

Remember when all the doctor did was to make you stick out your tongue and say "ah," thump you on the chest, listen to your ticker, and then tell you to take a dose of Epsom salts?

Those simple days are past. Medicine is on the assembly line now. My doctor didn't make me say "ah," at all, but examined me from stem to stern with instruments I'd never seen before—and don't want to again.

"Well?" I asked, when he had finally put me back on my bare feet again.

"You don't have athlete's foot, and your scalp seems okay," he said. "But everything in between is suspect."

"And that means—?" I whimpered.

"Just a few routine hospital tests," he answered consolingly, as I tried to remember the name

Entertain With A Summer Salad Buffet

Warm weather is a delightful time to entertain but only when menus are thoughtfully selected. Food must be light and enchanting.

Crisp, cool salads are high on the list of favorites at this time of year. From small accompaniment salads to hearty main dish salads, the variety is great. But the success of a good salad is dependent upon the dressing.

Give that "seasoned to perfection" touch to your salads with a "souper" salad dressing. Use canned condensed tomato soup as the base for many tasty dressings. An especially good one is a lamaze-type dressing . . . a combination of the soup with mayonnaise, sweet pickle relish, and a bit of grated onion, mustard, and lemon juice. It's a treat served with cooked shrimp, crisp salad greens or used for a tempting main dish lobster and egg salad as in the recipe below.

LOBSTER AND EGG LAMAZE Dressing:

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup onion or sweet pickle relish
- 3/4 teaspoon grated onion
- 1/2 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice

Blend soup and mayonnaise. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill. Makes about 2 1/2 cups dressing.

Salad:

- 4 cups lettuce, torn in bite-size pieces
- 3 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
- 2 cups cubed cooked lobster (about 3 medium-size tails)
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper

Toss together all ingredients. Chill. At serving time, pour dressing over and mix lightly. Garnish with wedges of additional hard-boiled egg, 6 servings.

of my friendly neighborhood undertaker.

Routine? They X-ray you, stare at your gizzard through a fluoroscope, pour liquid chalk and other chemicals into you, run your symptoms through data processing and computer gadgets.

Then a pretty technician needles you and draws off enough blood to put the American Red Cross over its national collection goal for 1963.

Finally they strap you into a death-house-like machine called an electrocardiograph that snatches on your madly pounding heart. As you lie there listening to the pretty technician talk about her vacation, you try vainly to think up some famous last words.

The only phrase that comes to mind is—"pray now—pay later."

Several days later, after the doctor had reviewed all this medical machine gossip, I crept cringing into his office for the verdict.

"Well, if you give up your boisterous and profligate ways, and settle down to a calm and sensible way of life," said the doctor, "you should last for a long time yet. But, of course, this is no guarantee. I don't have a pipelane to the Lord."

"Yeah, doc," I mumbled. "But just what exactly is wrong with me?"

"Specifically, you're at least 20 pounds overweight, and you have a protuberant verruca on your forehead?"

"What's a protuberant verruca?" I pleaded, wiping my brow.

"A big wart!"

I should be the life of the party in my set from now on. All they have is colitis, ulcers, hypertension, or here and there a rampant thyroid or a cobblestone-littered gallbladder.

But me—I've got the only protuberant verruca in the crowd. And I intend to make the most of it!

Next East, West Pact Won't Be Easy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—As East-West negotiations go, the recent conclusion of a limited nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union was a breeze. The next round won't.

Premier Khrushchev's insistent call for an East-West nonaggression treaty seems certain to provide the central issue in negotiations at the next stage.

The problem of finding out how the United States should approach these negotiations and what Khrushchev wants to accomplish in them is being explored by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in talks with top Soviet leader in Moscow this week.

Khrushchev has made his main point clear. At the signing of the test ban pact Monday in Moscow he declared that "the next step, in our opinion, should be to conclude a nonaggression pact between the member states of NATO and the states belonging to the Warsaw Treaty."

While the United States position on his proposal is publicly flexible, American leaders undoubtedly are opposed to the pact in the form in which Khrushchev wants it.

The public flexibility is due to a desire here to keep Western negotiations with the Soviet government moving forward and to find out whether a modified nonaggression agreement acceptable to both sides might be worked out.

What course Khrushchev eventually takes depends on his real goals, about which Washington officials are uncertain. If, as many suspect, he is angling for some kind of recognition of Communist East Germany, the United States and its allies will face extreme difficulty in coming to terms with him in the next round. The Western powers do not recognize East Germany, a member of the Warsaw treaty.

In the view of some of the best informed authorities here a nonaggression pact would be meaningless except as a kind of good will gesture toward peace. All the countries which are members of the United Nations, including the Soviet Union and the United States, are already committed to nonaggression by the U.N. charter. French President Charles de Gaulle has made clear his opposition to the proposed nonaggression pact—as well as his unwillingness to sign the nuclear test ban agreement.

It is understood that De Gaulle's stand, taken in a news conference July 29, has been affirmed in a message he sent this week to President Kennedy. De Gaulle is reported to have told Kennedy that France does not intend to sign the test ban treaty—even at the price of U.S. aid for France's nuclear program.

The Kennedy administration's approach to the next phase of negotiations with the Soviet Union is to try to broaden the nonaggression issue to embrace larger questions of European security.

The principle point of conflict is Berlin. The United States would like to see Khrushchev eliminate the possibility of a new Berlin crisis by agreeing to forego the use of threats or pressure on West Berlin or its supply lines.

Another counterproposal being talked about by officials here would call for Khrushchev to agree to some kind of inspection procedures east and west of the dividing line in Europe in order to reduce the dangers of surprise attack.

Whether further talks between the United States and the Soviet Union can produce some formula for bringing these conflicting purposes together into a single agreement is problematical. Officials think that Rusk may have some clues when he returns to Washington this weekend to report to President Kennedy.

THE STORY: Benson and Shirl Dorrus are about to sign a partnership agreement through which Benson hopes to get control of some land that may be a part of the United States if the Rio Grande River changes course.

IV

We shared a room at the Texas House—his idea, not mine. We had breakfast together in the hotel dining room, and together we went and spent some two hours in a dusty law office smelling of books while articles of partnership were hashed out and drawn up and finally signed in front of a notary and a couple of barflies brought in as witnesses.

When we got through in that place there was no doubt in anyone's mind we were not only partners but equal inheritors of anything either of us had or might acquire.

Shirl Dorrus, buttoning away his copy of the agreement, was feeling a lot more confident as we tramped down the stairs. We had signed three copies, the third to be held by the lawyer for a probate at whatever time the decease of either partner should make such action mandatory.

We had hardly stepped into the street when Dorrus said: "Now that we've got them obligations took care of, I think you better be tellin' me how we part Villalobos for High an' Mighty Alfredo."

"Villalobos," I said shortly, "wasn't mentioned in that agreement."

His mouth fell open. His eyes looked like they might roll off his cheekbones. His jaws, slammed shut, flung wide in the bellow of a goaded bull.

He grabbed for his hip but I was there before him, stepping clear with his pistol, dumping the loads from it, throwing it back at him. He caught it awkwardly, off balance, redfaced and snarling, clumsy with outrage.

I said to him sharply: "Shooting down a partner who doesn't pack a gun is a pretty good way to fit a rope around your neck. You'd better give some thought to those papers you just signed."

I left him glaring and moved toward the bank, heard the strike of his spurs coming through after me. Ignoring him, I stepped over to the cashier's wicket and said to the bald head behind the grille: "My name is Bancroft Benson. I'd like to speak with the manager."

"Just a moment, Mr. Benson." Moving to the back of the cage he summoned a clerk who, after listening, nodded and hurried off out of sight. The cashier smiled. "Did you have a good trip?"

"Good enough," I said, finding Dorrus at my elbow. The man's dark face was fairly bristling with suspicion.

"Pardon me," the bald head said. "Something for you sir?"

"I'm with him," Dorrus growled; and then a dignified gentleman with considerable stomach and a grizzle of whiskers along the sides of his face came out of a door that was gold-lettered PRIVATE and, moving up, caught my hand. "Mr. Benson—a pleasure. I'm Horace Finchbone. Will you step into my office?"

"I'm a little pressed for time just now. I've taken over the Running Bee from Mr. Dorrus here, who has graciously consented to stay on for a while as range boss. You have my funds?"

Finchbone, smiling affable, nodded. "All your instructions have been followed to the letter. You may draw on us at will."

"Thank you. A packet of cheques, I believe, will do for right now."

Bald head pushed one through his wicket. Mr. Finchbone, beaming, pressed it into my hand. "Have a good trip?"

"A bit dusty," I said, slipping the packet inside my suitcoat.

"Well," Finchbone said, twiddling the watch chain that crossed the waistcoated protuberance of his generous girth. "We're glad to see fresh blood coming in. Yes, indeed," he declared, his glance going obliquely over Dorrus again. He patted his stomach, dredging up another smile. "We—ah—hope you'll be happy here."

Outside, Dorrus growled: "What was that all about?"

"He doesn't seem to have placed you on the same shelf with Moses. We'll step over to the courthouse," I said, and struck for it. His arm came up as though he meant to lay hold of me. "If you got money in there—"

Since I had not stopped to listen I didn't catch the rest of it. Wheezing, spluttering, seeming about to burst his sturcingle, he managed to overhaul me just as I started up the steps. "I got rights!" he shouted, swelling up like a carbuncle.

"When you start living up to your part of the agreement—when you act like a hired hand instead of a fishwife," I said, "I might be inclined to consider your reproaches."

Without waiting for any more of his guff, I pushed into the place, finding at the end of a door-lined corridor the entrance labeled "Recorders' office."

Johnson Has Steady Lead in Mississippi

By JAMES SAGGUS
Associated Press Staff Writer

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson, who once barred Negro James Meredith from the University of Mississippi campus, maintained a steady lead today in slowly mounting Democratic primary returns for governor.

With about 210,000 votes reported out of some 450,000 expected, Johnson kept his lead over former Gov. J.P. Coleman and young Charles Sullivan.

With 1,274 of the state's 1,882 precincts reporting, Johnson had 82,853 votes, Coleman 68,939 and Sullivan 57,787.

Robert Mason of Magee, 65-year-old welder, was out of the running with 1,203 votes.

Because the long ballot—listing offices from governor to constable—must be hand-counted in all but 17 precincts, there were indications tight races may not be settled until nightfall or possibly Thursday.

Runoffs will be held Aug. 27 for races in which no one gets a majority.

Democratic nominees will go on the general election ballot Nov. 5. Republican opposition, including gubernatorial candidate Rubel Phillips, may pose a threat for the first time since the turn of the century.

A flurry of Negro "vote-ins" heightened interest in the campaigning, at the last minute.

The vote-ins came after a campaign based largely on each candidate's claims that he was best equipped to fight for segregation and against the Kennedy administration.

Gov. Ross Barnett, ineligible under state law to succeed himself, honored Mississippi tradition by taking no public part in the campaign to name his successor.

Johnson, making his fourth try for governor, based his campaign largely on his part in the Ole Miss desegregation crisis last fall.

On one occasion, when Barnett was unable to reach the university in time to turn back Meredith, Johnson stood in for the governor and personally barred the entrance to the campus.

Johnson, 47-year-old Hattiesburg attorney, still faces federal contempt of court charges for blocking Meredith after Meredith won a court order directing the state to admit him.

Both Coleman and Sullivan charged the brief encounter was rigged and ineffective, because Meredith registered the next week.

Many of the unreported votes were from heavy-voting urban precincts that frequently do not follow the pattern of rural precincts in the same counties.

Coleman, 49, and Sullivan, 38, were expected to run well in the cities with big votes.

The Negro vote-ins were called a protest against racial practices and prevailing political sentiments in the state.

At Greenwood, in north Mississippi, 285 Negroes turned in pre-marked ballots and affidavits saying they were illegally denied registration.

Tariff Cost to State $8 Millions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas poultry producers are losing $8 million a year due to the European Common Market's increased poultry import tariff, said Bill Simmons, head of the International Trade Committee of the Arkansas Poultry Federation.

Simmons, of Siloam Springs, is one of the state's largest exporters of broilers. He said that since the increase in tariff from 4.9 to 13.43 cents per pound, the flow of Arkansas broilers to the six Common Market countries has "diminished to a mere trickle."

Ted Cameron, president of the Arkansas Poultry Federation, said that Arkansas — second in U.S. broiler production — has "found some markets to replace the loss to the Common Market countries, but not enough to really compensate for the loss."

Legislators Visit Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Five members of the Arkansas General Assembly were to attend the 12th annual Legislative Work Conference of the Southern Regional Education Board today in Oklahoma City.

They are Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville and Reps. L. H. Autry of Mississippi County, John P. Bethell of Prairie County, Arthur E. Deckelman of Drew County and Milt Earnhart of Sebastian County.

Wade and Autry were members of the board.

The conference will concentrate on educational television and adult education on the university level.

Innocent Is Pleaded in Child Death

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A California woman pleaded innocent in Pope Circuit Court Wednesday to concealing the death of her illegitimate child.

And two men pleaded innocent to charges of helping to conceal a felony. The case of a 15-year-old boy who also was charged was turned over to juvenile court.

The group was charged in connection with the death of two infants whose decomposed bodies were found in shallow graves near Ozark in July.

Jerry Kitty Sheeuer, the woman, was arrested in Santa Ana, Calif., and the two men and the body were taken into custody in New Mexico. They are John Thomas Potts, 27, his brother William, 15, and their father, Rhodes Potts, 63.

The woman was released on $1,500 bond after arraignment. She went back to California. The men were held on $1,000 bond. No disposition was made of the boy's case immediately and he remained in the Pope County Jail with the men.

John Thomas Potts said one baby died of natural causes and the other from accidental suffocation while the group was camped in a roadside park near Russellville while en route to Kentucky. After the deaths the group turned back and the bodies were buried near Ozark.

State Police said cause of death could not be determined.

One of the famous early schoolmasters was Albert Pike who taught school near Van Buren for $3.00 a month, half of this paid in money, and half in pigs.

Star City Sinks Hoehospital Funds

STAR CITY, Ark. (AP) — Petitions asking for a special election asking for a special election of a county hospital at Star City have been filed with Lincoln County Judge E. G. Brockman.

The petitions were circulated by the Star City Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed hospital would cost about $500,000 and would contain 25 beds. The project would be eligible for federal matching funds under the Hill-Burton Act and a local bond issue would carry a tax levy of about four mills.

The county does not have a hospital. A proposal to build one was defeated about two years ago.

Pair Gets Boat Past River Dam

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP) — John Cordell and Bill Swan, who are floating down the Arkansas River in a flat-bottom fishing boat on a trip to the Mississippi River and New Orleans, were expected to arrive in Little Rock about 5 p.m. today.

The two planned to camp last night near Morrilton. Cordell and Swan were afraid they had reached the end of the line Monday. They found the Dardanelle Dam blocking their way and no way to get over it. But a Dardanelle monument dealer hauled their boat around the dam in a tombstone truck Tuesday.

Cordell, 18, and Swan, 19, both from Pryor, Okla., started from Muskogee last Friday.

Swan is studying medicine at Oklahoma University. Cordell said he would go to George Washington University at St. Louis this fall.

Last of the Old School of Stunt Men

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The ancient-looking biplane skimmed a factory building, ducked under high-power lines, then sped through a narrow street, its wheels touching the ground for an instant.

Movie extras scurried for cover as cameras captured the daring stunt. "Cut!" yelled Director Edward Dmytryk, and the scene was repeated a few times until he was satisfied.

This was a location shot at Boron, Calif., for "The Carpetbaggers." The script called for a tycoon, played by George Peppard, to play the prank on his workers. The man who did the flying was one of the last of a legendary breed, movie stunt pilots.

His name is Frank Tallman. With the noted Paul Mantz, he operates the Tallmantz Air Service, which supplies flying thrills for movies and television and does test piloting.

Mantz has done just about everything possible with an airplane, from "Hell's Angels" to Chimerama. His latest movie stunt was flying through a hangar. It might be his last.

"I'm turning 60," said Mantz, "and I've had it. I'll let Frank do the stunts from now on."

Soon Tallman arrived in the plane he flies daily from Torrance, 25 miles away. "It saves me 45 minutes and it's safer than driving," he said.

Tallman went to his office, which is decorated with mementoes of his 30 years of flying. "My father was a Navy flier in the first war," he said. "I started flying at the tail end of the helmet-and-goggles era."

We took a tour of the airfield, and Tallman explained the history of some of the 90 planes in the firm's collection dating back to a 1910 Curtis Pusher replica, speed 55 m.p.h.

"Nearly all of them will fly," said Tallman.

Transit Firm Is Denied Account

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An application by Film Transit, Inc., of Memphis to deliver accounting punch cards for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., exchanges in Arkansas was denied Tuesday by the state Commerce Commission.

The commission said bus companies operating throughout the state were equipped to handle the business. The application was opposed by some of the companies. Southwestern Bell said the punch cards, on which exchanges record long distance call charges, were picked up daily and brought to Little Rock for billing purposes.

China, Russia Friendly Again

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—Red Chinese and Soviet delegates shook hands in private at the ban-the-bomb conference today and agreed to a watered-down resolution that ignored the Big Three nuclear test ban treaty.

The divided, Communist-dominated conference unanimously adopted a resolution condemning U.S. plans to continue underground tests and pledging the delegates to "resolutely block the French plan, supported by the imperialists headed by the United States, to further test weapons in the Sahara and the Pacific."

Union Calls Meet for Next Tues.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today called a meeting of its general chairman here next Tuesday to consider developments in the railroad work rules dispute.

The committee composed of chairmen of employee groups of the nation's railroads, has authority to act for the union in any prospective settlement of the rail dispute.

J.L. Shattuck, vice president of the union—one of five operating unions which have threatened to strike if new work rules are put into effect—said no specific proposal for settlement of the controversy is in hand at present.

However, he said, officials are hoping to have something in the way of a proposal to put before the 156-member group when it meets here.

Shattuck termed the announcement of the meeting "an important development."

He said it was called at the urging of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Shattuck's statement came as Wirtz continued meetings with representatives of the carriers and unions involved in the dispute.

Train crew union representatives met with carriers in a joint session this morning and recessed to meet later in the day. Meanwhile engine crew union representatives were on a standby basis for further meetings at the Labor Department.

The intensified talks this week are expected to determine whether private negotiations can end the strike threat or whether Congress must act to prevent a transportation tie-up.

Woman Attacked by Negro Man

HAZEN, Ark. (AP) — Prairie County officers were searching for a Negro today after a Hazen white woman claimed he broke into her home and tried to attack her Tuesday night the sheriff's office in Des Arc reported.

The woman fought the man off and got to a telephone to call neighbors. Then he fled, officers reported the woman as saying.

A car was found abandoned between Des Arc and Hazen and the search was centered in that area Tuesday night. State Police reported today that officers had checked a number of houses in the Hazen area and had called off the search.

An alert was broadcast in central and southeast Arkansas for the man.

The gas street lights in Little Rock in 1880, caused much talk as some people did not like the idea of trying to light up the night.

NECK CUT ROASTS? NEVER AT SAFEWAY!

Safeway never sells neck cuts as chuck roasts. (But some other markets do.) If you have been getting tough "chuck roasts" that are full of hidden bones, you've probably been getting neck cuts. At Safeway, we bone and sell this part of the beef as stewing meat or ground beef.
